

NEW YORK STATE AND COUNTY LISTING REPORT - 2019

Compiled by Carena M. Pooth - carena@prodigy.net

I hope you and your friends and loved ones are all in good health as we struggle to get through this crisis. The comparatively carefree days of 2019 seem so long ago, when we birded shoulder-to-shoulder, shared our scopes, and high-fived each other with joyful smiles after seeing a great bird together. But even now, in these dark days of the coronavirus, we birders are lucky to be able to find solace in the great outdoors, and – if we wish – to share the best bits with our birding buddies through eBird, email, facebook, facetime, zoom – or perhaps even that quaint old method of picking up the phone and ringing ‘em up! If you’re cooped up inside and could use a quiet break, read on.

135 reports were submitted, up from 129 for 2018. 4 new regional and 27 new county records were set (boldfaced in the lists below). The same 10 people as last year reported at least 100 species in all 10 regions (William E. Cook, Jane Graves, David W. Harrison, Pat Lindsay, Shai Mitra, Kevin McGann, Bill Purcell, Mickey Scilingo, Alison Van Keuren, and David Wheeler). 22 had lists for all 62 counties (20 last year). Bill Purcell continues as the only one to report at least 100 species in all 62 counties, a distinction he acquired in 2016. Alison Van Keuren joins William E. Cook, Jane Graves, and Bill Purcell in reporting 50 or more species in every county. For total county list ticks, the top 3 participants were Bill Purcell (9022), Gary Chapin (7576), and Jane Graves (7435). At the other end of the spectrum, we extend a warm welcome to “first year birder” John A. Cavalari, Jr!

YOUNG BIRDERS: 3 of this year’s reporters were under 18 on 12/31/19 – Robert Buckert, August Davidson-Onsgard, and Adam Troyer (their names are flagged with 🐣 in the lists below).

BIRDER NOTES: David W. Harrison wrote, “It will be interesting to see how atlassing impacts the county listing. The last atlas got me started on this journey (in Fulton County) and county birding...has become central to the way I bird in the state.” Others noted particular goals or milestones. Peter Paul “almost made it to 300 in Kings. As of this submission, I’ve already picked up one more - a Harlequin Duck found by Daisy was #299 for me!” David Wheeler added another 200-species county, bringing his total to 12. Tim Healy did a lot of out-of-state travel last year, but he happily reported that his Nassau County life list “finally surpassed 300 species. Having birded in the area since childhood and only fully connecting with the community after returning from college, I’ve been striving for this milestone for a long time.” Deborah Dohne enjoyed “The Year of the Evening Grosbeak, sweetly observed in seven counties.” Finally, Shai Mitra reflected on the way birding has changed since Berna Lincoln started this friendly competition back in 1992: “Looking back on the history of this project, it’s poignant to see the names and list totals of the many friends who influenced us. In 1992, the first year, Dorothy Crumb was on top with 368 and only one person reported a year list over 300. Clearly, it’s much easier to chase birds and build lists now than then. The concept of self-found birds is an enjoyable motivator for old-fashioned bird watching. Of my NYS list, 84% have been self-found.” Consider the gauntlet thrown!

A COUNTY LISTING FRIEND WE’VE LOST: We are sad to report that Bob May, who submitted reports almost every year since the project started in 1992, passed away last April. In the words of Shai Mitra, “Bob was a long-time Long Island birder and a dear friend of many. It was always a pleasure to meet him in the field – whether it was a reunion between old friends, or, for newer birders who had never met him before, as a positive influence and a helpful voice (with a glorious New England accent!) of experience.

FORMATTING AND NOTATIONS: In the lists below, * indicates county resident and 🐦 indicates young birder (under 18 on 12/31/19). Boldface at the top of a list indicates a new high. Non-bold italics at the top of a list indicate a high record unchanged from last year. Record highs not surpassed this year are at the end of the report.

THE MAP: The New York State map showing the 10 Kingbird regions is on the last page. It can also be found in every issue of The Kingbird and on the NYSOA website:

nybirds.org/CountyLists/map-counties-kbregions.pdf

CHECKLIST NOTE FOR NEXT YEAR'S REPORT: The 2020 Checklist of the Birds of New York State has added one new species accepted by NYSARC (New York State Avian Records Committee). The new addition is Inca Dove.
